

“Spine of the Lizard”

Photographic Competition

*Launching on November 8, 2014
at the Banks Peninsula Walking Festival
Entries close on 31 January 2015*

The Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust aims to get more people engaging with and appreciating the special landscape, environment, culture and heritage of beautiful Banks Peninsula. As part of its work the Trust is promoting the “Spine of the Lizard” – our new name for a network of tracks linking the Lyttelton and Akaroa craters and including its highest summit and only tramping hut, the Sign of the Packhorse. These walks feature on our website www.bpwalks.co.nz and in our new Banks Peninsula Walks Reference Book* as orange tramps #8,10,11,12,13,14,15,16 and 17 on the Greater Banks Peninsula page so look there to find out more about them.

The Trust is now seeking your help to build up a fantastic image library for the Spine of the Lizard tracks. We invite you to submit photos of landscapes, especially showing people, particularly children and young people, enjoying themselves in a natural way as they explore places along the Spine of the Lizard tracks.

You may enter as many photos as you like in our Photographic Competition and you have all summer to go walking and send your photos to us. Our judges will review them and best ones will be selected for use on our website or published materials. The top photographers will be awarded with these great prizes:

First Prize

WEEKEND at the NEW ROD DONALD TRUST HUT for you and up to 8 family members or friends!

Second Prize

Annual pass for Orton Bradley Park and a night at Packhorse Hut for you and your immediate family (max 4)

Runners up

Banks Peninsula Walks Reference book and three new brochures
Your guide to all the walks on Banks Peninsula with full detail on 21 of the best

The photographic competition is open to all amateur and professional photographers. For more information, conditions and entry form see overleaf or www.roddonaldtrust.co.nz.

* Banks Peninsula Walks Reference book is available at all Banks Peninsula information centres, DOC visitor centre, Council Service Centres, Scorpio Books, Map World, Little River Gallery and Pot Pourri, Akaroa.

Terms & Conditions of Entry

The competition is run by the Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust. By submitting an entry in the competition, entrants agree to the following terms and conditions.

1. All entries must have been photographed on Banks Peninsula on one of the Spine of the Lizard tracks or be views looking to it. These are orange tramps #8,10,11,12,13,14,15,16 and 17 on our website bpwalks.co.nz and Banks Peninsula Walks Reference Book.
2. Views of people engaged in walking or related activities (such as picnicking) are encouraged as well as landscape shots. Judges will be looking for natural shots rather than posed groups.
3. Entries must be digital (jpg, tif, bmp formats) and are to be submitted by email to secretary@roddonaldtrust.co.nz or on a CD mailed to Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust, PO Box 5, Little River, 7581.
4. Entries are to be received no later than 5pm on January 31,2015.
5. The entrant must be the sole owner and author of copyright and all other intellectual property in the material submitted to the judges. Each entrant agrees to indemnify Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust from and against all claims, demands, expenses and damages that Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust may face or incur as a result of any breach of this condition.
6. Copyright on photographs submitted will transfer to the Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust. The Trust will include them in its photographic library and may use them, without any payment obligation, on its website, in materials published by the Trust, and share them with partner organisations for the purposes of promoting walking, the environment and sustainable management of Banks Peninsula. The name of the photographer will be credited.
7. The judges will be appointed by the Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust. The judges' decisions will be final and not subject to appeal or correspondence. Results will be announced in February, 2015.
