

Spot the Tops Photographic Competition

Entries close on 30 May 2021

The Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust is fundraising to purchase and setup Te Ahu Patiki conservation park and protect 500ha of iconic land for biodiversity and non-motorised public access. The land includes the summits of Mt Herbert/Te Ahu Pātiki and Mt Bradley – the two highest points in the Christchurch City territorial area.

The Trust is now seeking your help to build up a fantastic image library of the peaks and to spread the word about our fundraising campaign.

You may enter as many photos as you like in our Photographic Competition. Our judges will review them and best ones will be selected for use on our website or published materials. The top three photographers will be awarded with these great prizes:

First Prize

Hunting and Fishing voucher worth $150

Second Prize

Lyttelton's Fishermans Wharf restaurant voucher worth $75

Third Prize

Rod Donald Trust walking information pack worth $40

The photographic competition is open to all amateur and professional photographers.

Terms & Conditions of Entry

The competition is run by the Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust. By submitting an entry in the competition, entrants agree to the following terms and conditions.

1. All entries must show some part of the Te Ahu Pātiki park and include one or both summits. This can include views from the top with the summit in the foreground, or of the summits.
2. Entries may be taken from a distance or from the existing walking tracks on the Te Ahu Patiki site.
3. Entries must be digital and either submitted via Instagram or email
4. For Instagram entries please
  - a. Follow @roddonaldbptrust on Instagram
  - b. Share your photo on Instagram using the hash tag #SpotTeAhuPatiki
  - c. Tag @roddonaldbptrust
5. For email entries put SpotTeAhuPatiki photo in the subject line. Attach your high resolution images to the email and send it to sue.church@roddonaldtrust.co.nz.
6. Entries are to be received no later than midnight on Sunday May 30, 2021.
7. The entrant must be the sole owner and author of copyright and all other intellectual property in the material submitted to the judges. Each entrant agrees to indemnify Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust from and against all claims, demands, expenses and damages that Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust may face or incur as a result of any breach of this condition.
8. Copyright on photographs submitted will remain with the photographer. The Trust will include them in its photographic library and may use them, without any payment obligation, on its website, in materials published by the Trust, and share them with partner organisations for the purposes of promoting the Te Ahu Pātiki project and walking, the environment and sustainable management of Banks Peninsula. The name of the photographer will be credited.
9. The judges will be appointed by the Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust. The judges' decisions will be final and not subject to appeal or correspondence. Results will be announced on Monday May 31, 2021 on facebook and our website.
10. By submitting a photograph to the Spot the Tops competition you agree to abide by these Terms and Conditions.